TERRIBLE DISASTER.

Nearly 200 Lives Believed to Be Lost,

OFF NEWFOUNDLAND COAST.

Two Hundred and Twenty Fishermen Without Food or Heavy Clothing Drifting Out to Sea in a Storm Where the Temperature Is Below Zero—Many of Them Found Frozen in the Ice.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 2.—A special dispatch to The Herald from St. Johns, N. F., gives details of a terrible disaster in Newfoundland by which at least nearly 200 lives are lost. On Saturday 220 men went out seining from the shore of Trinity bay. A terrible storm sprung up and the thermometer dropped to zero.

The men could not reach any port of refuge; they had no extra clothes nor any food with them. Some were blown to sea, others got on to the ice and perished from cold and exposure, while others died in their boats. Seventeen were rescued by boats which went to their assistance from Heart's Content and were found frost-bitten and terribly exhausted. Some died before they could be taken ashore.

Thirteen bodies were found frozen in their boats which were covered with ice and had to be cut out. It was a ghastly piece of business. Ice steamers are still looking for missing men. Most of those who were lost were fathers of families. There is great lamentation along the shores of Trinity bay. The legislature has adjourned as a mark of sympathy.

STORM IN THE EAST.

Great Damage Done Along the Atlantic Coast.

NEW YORK, March 2.—March was ushered in by a howling wind. A gust of rain in the morning, which was neither lamblike nor lionine, but before the month was half hour old the east wind rose to do it honor, and all its gentle tendencies vanished into the damp night air.

At 1 o'clock the winds began to whistle shrilly overhead and from that hour on there was no longer any doubt about it. March was coming in like a full grown lion. The rain kept falling for two or three hours, then it turned into sleet. Half an hour later snow flakes began to fall and when day broke all the thoroughfares and all railroads were enamelled with white.

A little later the snow flakes turned into sleet, which caused the streets to be covered with a thick slush, making the walking very disagreeable for pedestrians.

The storm extends a considerable distance along the Atlantic coast. Considerable damage is reported at various points, and telegraph lines are down in many directions.

Steamer Wrecked.

LEWES, Del., March 2.—Captain Charles W. Johnston arrived here last night from Hog Island, Va., and reports that the wrecked steamer San Albans is intact with the heavy surf of the last few days, making a complete breach over her. The probability of saving the steamer is small. She has listed off shore and settled somewhat in the sand. About ninety bales of cotton from her after hatch have washed ashore, and the rest of her cargo is still in her. Most of it is in a damaged condition. No work has been done towards saving the vessel or cargo, and the wrecking steamers North America and Tamesi made harbor at Norfolk during the late gales.

Damage Done at Atlantic Highlands.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., March 2.—A large steamer is reported to be wrecked between Sandy Hook and Seabright, with loss of life attended. The high tides, submerged roads and meadows here and cast some wreckage on the beach. A large stretch of new railroad between here and the lower highlands was washed into the bay, and a large steam pile driver at the end of the railroad wharf was capsized and sunk.

Heavy Snowfall in Pennsylvania.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., March 2.—The snowfall of yesterday was unprecedented in this section in the past ten years, measuring two feet and four inches in depth. The storm only extended forty miles east of here. In many places the Western Union telegraph and telephone lines are down and in this town several buildings have crashed under the great weight of snow. In the event of the snow melting rapidly, which now seems probable, a great flood is feared.

Death of an Ex-Governor.

RALEIGH, March 2.—W. W. Holden, ex-governor of North Carolina, died here yesterday afternoon. He was prior to and during the war, editor of The Standard, was provisional governor, and later governor, but was impeached and deposed by the senate in 1870.

Dark Political Outlook.

NEW YORK, March 2.—A special to The Herald from San Salvador says the political horizon is very dark. War clouds are gathering on the frontier. Guatemala seems bent upon invading Salvador.

IN STATU QUO.

State of Affairs in the Indianapolis Street Car Strike.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 2.—The street car troubles have not been settled yet. It was thought that the appointment of W. T. Steele as receiver of the street car company would be the climax of the strike, but such has not been the case.

Steele was formerly superintendent of the company, but was discharged by Frenzel when he became president. After his appointment, Steele said that his policy would be to run the cars. He had, he said, no friends to serve or enemies to punish.

The receivership of Mr. Steele is regarded as an extraordinary occurrence. He is an ex-officer and unfriendly to the company. He is popular with the strikers.

Steele was true to his promise, for yesterday, for the first time in ten days, except one day when a few disastrous trips with police assistance were made, street cars were running. He has only possession of one stable, however, as all the other barns except the Pennsylvania street have been securely locked and barred by the company.

As the company is perfectly solvent, the appointment of a receiver has caused not a little surprise. This, of course, has been construed as a partial victory for the strikers, and it was celebrated by organized labor in a street parade of 500 or 600 men headed by a brass band.

Receiver Steele has only seven cars on the streets without change of mules. These carry flags and are otherwise decorated.

Frenzel has prepared injunction papers against Steele, and the latter has sworn out a warrant for Frenzel's arrest on the charge of contempt of court. Judge Taylor will not hear the injunction proceedings until Frenzel purges himself of contempt of court in not surrendering the entire property of the company over to the receiver. Matters are thus left in statu quo.

OUT AND IN.

A Noted Desperado Landed in the Northern Indiana Pen.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., March 2.—One of the most daring criminals who ever infested Clark county was transferred to the prison north yesterday in charge of Sheriff Donovan. He was none other than Anthony, alias "Chubby" Carroll, and until he was sentenced to the prison south, for a murderous assault upon Elmer Smith, he was a terror to this city. He was sentenced for four years. Within the walls of the prison he was looked upon as a dangerous criminal, and the guards were cautioned against him. Among them was guard Applegate, whom Carroll looked upon as his friend, but one day he felled Applegate with a blow over the head, and the latter died three weeks later.

Carroll was indicted in the Clark circuit court, and upon pleading guilty before Judge Patterson, two years were added to the imprisonment he was already undergoing. Carroll succeeded in being transferred to the prison north. Last Sunday he attempted to saw his way out of jail, and for this reason his departure was hastened. He is an expert machinist, and familiar with jail construction. He boasts that he will not serve out his sentence, and that he will escape.

CANADA'S CATHOLICS

Said to Have Pledged Their Votes to the Conservatives.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 2.—The organ of the Manitoba government here has published a startling statement to the effect that a bargain has been made between the Roman Catholic church and the Conservative government at Ottawa by which the church has pledged itself to give to the Conservatives the entire Catholic vote.

One condition of the agreement is that Abbott, the present Dominion premier, is to retire in the near future and be succeeded by Sir John Thompson, who is a Roman Catholic. Another condition is that in the event of the privy council of England declaring the act recently passed by the Manitoba government abolishing Catholic schools to be valid and constitutional, the Dominion government will promptly pass remedial legislation, annulling the Manitoba act and giving Catholics the right to maintain their separate schools at the public expense.

cowardly ASSASSINATION.

Deputy Sheriff Shot and Killed at Williamsburg, Ky.

DANVILLE, Ky., March 2.—Sam McHargue, a desperate character, of Williamsburg, shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Saddler at that place Monday. Saddler arrested McHargue Sunday, and Sunday night let him go to the house of some of his friends, they promising to return him in the morning. They failed to keep their word, and McHargue was released by them. He went to his home and got his shotgun, loaded it with slugs, and came back to town to get even with the officer. He secreted himself in the rear of Woods' restaurant, and when the officer appeared in the door of the building he riddled him with slugs. McHargue coolly walked out of the building, and escaped. He has not been arrested yet, and his victim is dead. The deputy sheriff was a cool, quiet man, while his slayer bears a very bad reputation.

Saloonkeepers Aroused.

VALPARAISO, Ind., March 2.—The recent action of the grand jury in returning 120 indictments for alleged infractions of the liquor law has resulted in the Saloonkeepers' association taking active measures to bitterly contest the cases in the courts. Eminent Chicago legal talent has been engaged by the association, and sensational developments are promised. Dr. W. H. Gray, of Chesterfield, personally conducted the crusade, and the action of the grand

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

The House Passes the Indian Appropriation Bill After a Ten Days' Discussion. Nothing Done in the Senate—Other Items.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The house devotes the day to the consideration of the Indian appropriation bill, which was finally passed, after occupying the attention of the house nearly ten days. The incident of the day was the discussion over the retention in the bill of an item of $13,000 to pay the salary of Captain Pratt, superintendent of the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa.

A telegram was read from Captain Pratt stating that the Catholics had a powerful lobby in Washington to influence legislation and that this church exercised a great influence upon questions before congress. The provision for Captain Pratt's salary was stricken out. The clause assigning army officers as Indian agents, in case of vacancies hereafter, was adopted.

The reports on the bills to place wool, cotton machinery, cotton ties and binding twine on the free list were reported and the house adjourned.

The entire day was consumed in the senate by a further discussion of the Idaho case, the advocates of the claims of the contestants, Mr. Claggett, on both sides of the chamber, having the floor. Mr. George, of Mississippi, who desired to speak on the question pleading in distinction, the senate, without action on the case, as contemplated, adjourned.

PUBLIC DEBT STATEMENT.

Transactions of the Treasury Department During the Month of February.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The monthly public debt statement issued from the treasury department shows a decrease from the aggregate debt during February amounting to $2,497,149. There was an increase of $400, in the interest bearing debt; a decrease of $1,703,803 in the non-interest bearing debt, and an increase of $793,755 in the surplus cash in the treasury.

The total debt to date is $32,622,204 net cash balance, or surplus in the treasury and the $1,000,000,000 gold reserve (greenback redemption fund) is $840,120,685. Of the surplus in the treasury today, national bank depositaries held $18,934,906, a decrease of about $750,000 since the 18th of February.

Government receipts during the past month aggregated $30,755,905, against $29,611,318 in February, 1891. Customs receipts during February were $16,782,420 or about $2,500,000 less than in February a year ago, and internal revenue receipts were $12,189,387, an increase of $2,039,757.

Expenditures during the month were $27,482,059 and for the last eight months $239,129,654, against $31,725,010 in February, 1891, and $266,503,181 during the corresponding eight months of the preceding fiscal year.

MILWAUKEE, Hour and Springer Sick.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Representative Mills, of Texas, has never entirely recovered from the illness from which he was suffering at the time the speakership campaign was ended, and which was aggravated by the exposure and exertion he underwent, and now he is again confined to his house with a swelling of his feet and legs which, while not painful, is exceedingly annoying.

Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, who has been a victim of a severe affection of the eyes for several weeks, is still confined to the house. When he will be able to be out is uncertain, but under two weeks, it is said.

Mr. Springer's condition is not improved. He is passing through the crisis of his illness today, and while no serious results are looked for, his condition is such that his family are somewhat apprehensive. Mr. Springer is suffering from erysipelas in the head, and the disease is now directly over his brain. His complaint is aggravated by worry over his congressional duties.

Work for the Boston.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The owner of the ship Tahiti, wrecked near the island of Locowia in September last, has requested the navy department to order the Boston to the island to take on board the crew of the wrecked vessel supposed to be on the island. The Boston will be reached at Panama on her way to San Francisco. Secretary Tracy, while not positively decided about the matter, will probably grant the request.

PAWN-BROKER BANKING.

A Novel Scheme Which Intended to Benefit the Poor.

COLUMBUS, O., March 2.—A new method of banking is proposed by some representatives from Cleveland. A bill will be introduced by some member of the Cuyahoga delegation to amend Section 3806 so as to authorize savings banks to loan money on all kinds of property at 50 per cent. of the value of the same, and to receive 1 per cent. per month interest and one-half of 1 per cent. for storage and care of the property. It is on the pawn-broker plan, but it provides that the property shall not be sold before ninety days after the debt becomes due, and then not till it has been advertised by printed notices for at least five days.

There is only one similar institution in the world, and that is located in the City of Mexico. And it is claimed it has been a great success and been a great benefit to the people who would be compelled to borrow from pawnbrokers at exorbitant rates. If it becomes a law it will do away with many of the pawn shops of Cleveland.

CONFERENCE OF POSTMASTERS.

Postmaster General Wanamaker Has Called One to Meet in Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The object of the conference of postmasters which Postmaster General Wanamaker has called to meet in Washington on March 9, is to devise practical methods for a general improvement of the postal service with as much increase of revenue and decrease of expenditures as is consistent with good service.

The following are some of the topics discussed: Money orders fees; extension of stamp agencies in cities; longer post-office leases; the advisability of establishing a branch of the dead letter office on the Pacific slope; finer separation of railway mail for large cities; for carrier and box distribution; occasional employment of carriers in any kind of post-office work; the star service; methods of ascertaining weights of second-class matter when mailed directly on transportation lines; transfer service between postoffices and railway stations; general messenger service; effect of private business on postal revenue; the largely increased use of one cent in preference to two cent stamps; increasing use of special request envelopes; consolidation of third and fourth-class matter; substitution of ordinary and special delivery stamps; quicker and cheaper special delivery; prepayment of postage in full on first-class matter; the registry system including the question of indemnity for loss; better methods of admitting and treating second-class matter; the attachment of postage due stamps on delivery of the matter; better security for registered matter in transit between postoffices and railroad stations; destruction of registry receipt cards after years; the right of a sender of registered matter to recall it before delivery; the expediency of fines and penalties in the discipline of employees; stamped envelopes; extension of the special request system; the social abuse and methods of determining the compensation of the fourth-class postmasters, whether by commissions or fixed salaries.

AN OPEN SWITCH.

Seven Men Killed on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad.

MILWAUKEE, March 2.—Seven Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul workmen lost their lives in a wreck in the Milwaukee yards yesterday afternoon. The Watertown accommodation bound for Milwaukee and the shop employees' train from Merrill were running side by side on parallel tracks, when the former dashed through an open switch and struck the first car of the shop train, overturning it and the two following cars. The engine and baggage car of the accommodation train were thrown into the ditch, but the passengers coaches kept the rails and the passengers escaped with a violent shaking up. Of the one hundred workmen in the three overturned cars seven were killed instantly, one was seriously injured and twelve were so badly hurt that they had to be taken away in ambulances though all of the latter will probably recover.

The unfortunates in the first coach of the shop train had seen their danger, and a rush was made for the windows. The seven men were clambering out when the car was overturned on them and all were crushed and mangled almost beyond recognition. Their bodies were quickly taken out by the wrecking crew and conveyed to the morgue, but up to the present time but four had been identified. Their names are Paul Wagner, Stephen Bobote, John Grundowski and Robert Weise, all laborers. The accident was caused by the carelessness of the switching crew. William Bartels, the foreman, immediately gave himself up to the police. He says there is no excuse for the accident. He simply forgot to close the switch.

CORRECTING THE DIFFICULTY.

An Important Bill Brought Out by the New Orleans Rioters.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A bill to correct the difficulty that prevented the federal government from assuming jurisdiction in the prosecution of the persons concerned in the killing of the Italians accused of complicity in the murder of Chief Hennessy, of the New Orleans police force, last year, has been introduced in the senate by Mr. Dolph, of Oregon. It will be remembered that the United States government found itself powerless to interfere in the matter because the killing came under the state law of Louisiana.

The bill provides that any act committed in any state or territory in violation of the rights of a citizen, or subject of a foreign country, secured to such citizens or subject by treaty, when the act constitutes a crime or misdemeanor under the state laws, shall also constitute a like crime or misdemeanor against the peace and dignity of the United States, punishable in like manner, and may be prosecuted in the courts of the United States, and upon conviction the sentence to be executed in a like manner as those under the United States laws.

DEMOCRATIC WIGWAM.

A Structure on the Lake Front to Hold the Sweating Thousands.

CHICAGO, March 2.—The latest plan for the wigwam to accommodate the Democratic national convention will be laid before the committee of arrangements. It contemplates a building on the lake front between Madison and Washington streets 400 by 250 in size.

It will have a stage for the accommodation of 300 prominent people. In front of that the platform for the officers of the convention; in front of that tables for the official stenographers, and on each side of these accommodations for 150 newspaper men. On the main floor will be seats for the delegates, and surrounding them in amphitheater form will be seats for 12,000 spectators. In addition to this above and beyond it will be two public galleries. The estimated cost of the structure is $24,000.

The little lady has grown but a trifle in stature, and is said to still retain her rich soprano voice, her singing and dancing being a taking feature in the entertainment. A great many who saw little Miss Dunn in Pinafore have often asked what had become of their "Little Josephine." Many of the children who were members of that Juvenile Pinafore Company have developed remarkable ability, and several are now leading lights in the dramatic profession.

Want it All Themselves.

[Cincinnati Times Star.]
The aggregate of fees paid pension attorneys in this country amounts to $37,000,000. Last year the fees amounted to $3,000,000. Is it any wonder that the Society of Loyal Volunteers has been organized in order that this enormous drain on the worthy pensioners of the country can be shut off? This society proposes that pensions shall be secured without the aid of an attorney.

When she was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria, when she became Miss, she clung to Castoria; when she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THAT CONFESSION.

Lutie Gray's Account of the Murder of Simon Travis Corroborated.

She Points Out the Place Where the Body Was Found, and Where the Killing Was Done.

The confession of Lutie Gray Sunday giving the details of the killing of Simon Travis in September, 1890, has greatly aroused the colored people of this city, especially the friends and relatives of the dead man and of those accused of the dastardly crime.

If her story is true, Charles Gantz, Hiram Stewart and John Marshall deserve the limit of the law. But Marshall is law proof now, as he can plead "former trial and acquittal."

Gantz, however, never figured much in the case until the Gray woman confessed. He was taken into custody the morning after the murder, but there was so little proof against him that he was released without even a preliminary hearing. The Gray woman now says he is the one who gave Travis the death wound.

Some circumstantial evidence strongly corroborating Lutie Gray's account of the murder has been obtained. Some of the friends of Stewart and Gantz claim that she was not with the party on the night of the killing. When told of this she insisted that she was, and said she could point out the spot where the body was left on the C. and O. track and also the place where the murder was committed.

She was given an opportunity to do this on Monday. Accompanied by Marshal Heflin and Deputy Marshal Crawford she went down to the West End. Crossing over to the C. and O. she proceeded down the track until she came within about two feet of the place where Travis' mangled remains were found. Then pausing she remarked to the officers, "Here's where they left him."

Captain Heflin then told her to point out the spot where Travis was killed. She continued on down the railroad to a point near the west line of Mr. A. J. McDougle's property, and pausing again she remarked, "It was just about here where he was killed." To test her and see whether she would change her mind, Captain Heflin told her she was mistaken. She insisted she was not. The officer again told her she was mistaken. She still insisted that that was the place, although she admitted finally that she might be mistaken. Captain Heflin then asked her to point out the exact spot as near as she could remember. She walked down below the track several feet and said that was where Travis was killed.

It is remembered that on the morning after the murder, spots of blood and blood-spattered pebbles were found along the railroad track. These blood marks were traced down the railroad to the point where Lutie Gray now says the killing was done, and the grass and weeds several feet below the track at that point showed evidences on the morning in question that a scuffle or struggle had occurred there the night before. A pool of blood was also found on this grass spot the morning after the murder. Captain Heflin says the women stopped almost on the identical spot where this pool of blood was found.

Lutie Gray says the party started to throw the body in the river a short distance this side of where Travis was killed, and that some one called to them not to "throw that hog in there." Parties, who reside in the vicinity say a family or junk boat was moored to the shore at that point on the night of the murder.

A witness has been found who saw the party as they went down to the dance on the night in question, and he says Lutie Gray was in the crowd. He identified her Monday, as soon as saw her, as one of the party.

Other evidence will be offered at the trial that will corroborate the women in one of her most important statements, and prove almost beyond a doubt that she was present at the time Travis was fully murdered.

The case against Gantz and Stewart was called again this morning before Judge Phister and continued until Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

"Casual Chats With Great People."

A genuine intellectual treat is in store for the people of Maysville. On Wednesday evening, March 16, Jahu DeWitt Miller will deliver his lecture at the High School entitled "Casual Chats With Great People." An exchange says he is "bold, vigorous, thoughtful, profitable, masterly," and that "as a humorous lecturer, one who can hit the 'follies as they fly,' and leave a substantial moral behind at each sally, he has certainly no superior. For real, genuine eloquence and power to sway a popular audience, he is the peer of Talmage or Beecher."

The Diamond spectacles are ground with the most precise scientific accuracy and are scientifically adapted to the eyes. Ballenger, the jeweler, keeps them on hand constantly. Satisfaction guaranteed.

The people have an opportunity to buy goods of W. L. Thomas & Brother at lower prices than ever offered before. The stock must go, as they have to give up their store room in a very short time.

MR. FRANK SHACKLEFORD, son of Mr. James Shackleford of this city, has located in the town of Ossawatomie, Kansas, through the agency of Mr. J. T. Long, and is now a partner in the Cottage Hotel of that place.

SAYS the Lexington Transcript: "Little Miss Clara Belle Walton arrived at the home of her happy parents, Judge and Mrs. Mat. Walton, on West Third street, at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the best of health and spirits."

MISS MAUD WALSH entertained some of her friends last evening and cut that fine eighty-dollar cake she won at the old soldiers' bazaar and supper. She didn't forget the BULLETIN. She will accept our thanks for some of the cake.

BEING compelled to give up their store room about the first of March, W. L. Thomas & Brother have made a still further reduction in their prices and are now offering any thing in their immense stock at prices never before offered in this market.

MR. AND MRS. W. B. THOMAS have removed to Lexington, where Mr. Thomas takes the position of business manager of "The Homestead." Success and happiness to them in their new home. They have the best wishes of their many friends in Maysville.

AN Ashland cow was discovered on the point of entering a street car a few days since, on a tour of investigation. The cows in that city are not quite up to the once-bothersome Maysville hog, however, as we haven't yet heard of any of them being found in the second story of a building.

THE Enquirer gives a detailed account of the final reception of the Cotillion Club of Covington Monday night at Oddfellows' Hall. It was a bal masque, and the costumes in many instances were gorgeous. Among those who attended were Miss Mac Marshall, who wore a pink crepe costume; Miss Forman, who impersonated a Venetian girl; Miss Jane Wood, a lady of the olden times; Miss Nannie Wood and Mrs. Clarence Weed, of Washington.

MR. LAWRENCE NICHOLSON, SR., whose critical illness was noticed Monday, died last evening at 7 o'clock at his home in the West End. His death was the result of an attack of dropsy. Deceased was born in County Limerick, Ireland, and came to Maysville when eighteen years old. He was sixty-two years of age, and leaves five children—two sons and three daughters. His wife was accidentally burned to death a year or two ago, and he lost a daughter in the same way. The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Patrick's Church. Burial at Washington.

THE Covington Commonwealth says: "Miss Mattie Lee Mannen has a face that artists love to sketch and sculptors to copy, yet as she moved gracefully and unselfishly among her invited guests last Friday evening, the thought most prominent was not of her personal charms, but her gift of entertaining, her powers of adaptation. This has been noted at the private luncheon, in the gay salon, the ball room, in sacred meetings of charities, and in every day life. Attractive was every appointment at the old time-honored home, and truly she was to be admired in her becoming gown of scarlet crepe de chine. A trio of lovely maidens from Maysville were her especial guests, and like a culled bouquet; we will not stop to discuss the varied attractions of the flowers, but only mention their names. Miss Wood wore a lovely pink silk, with light draperies of the same tint; Miss Jane Wood, a handsome yellow India silk, made with the utmost simplicity; Miss Forman, a becoming blue crepe de chine. Miss Marshall, guest of Mrs. Poynz, was invited to join the receiving party. She is an extremely handsome young lady, and wore an elegant gown of pearl gray grenadine."

Lutie Gray says the party started to throw the body in the river a short distance this side of where Travis was killed, and that some one called to them not to "throw that hog in there." Parties, who reside in the vicinity say a family or junk boat was moored to the shore at that point on the night of the murder.
